KINGSTON OUTFOXES KNIGHTS AT HOME

THE JOE SPITERI SHOW CONTINUES

Melbourne Knghts 1 - 3 Kingston City

Kingston City handed the Melbourne Knights' a lesson in goal scoring, as the visitors put on a polished performance in front of goals, disposing the home side 3-1 on Sunday afternoon at Sommers street.

The visitors dominated from the onset, pegging the home-side in their own half. The visitor's pressure bore fruit in the 16th minute, after Joe Spiteri skinned his marker on the left flank. Spiteri, a former Knight's NSL championship player, then proceeded to charge down the flank creating the space for another former Knight Alex Kiratzogalou to run into. Kiratzogalou consummately picked up Speteri's lay off, and converted the games opener with his second attempt, after Cagalj stopped Kiratzogalou's initial attempt.

The Knights equalized in the 26th minute against the run of play from a corner. A Tommy Milardovic run unsettled the Kingston defence and the visitors were forced to concede a corner. From the ensuing corner, Andrew Barisic headed in the equaliser from the back post.

The goal lifted the embattled Knights, but a neat one two by Kiratzogalou in the 35th minute split open the Knights defence. Kiratzogalou's second pass found the unmarked Micheal Curcija at the back post, who made no mistake from five metres out.

The Knights' were unlucky not to equalize in the 42nd minute, as Kingston's new goal keeper, Daniel Zilic could only punch the incoming cross as far as Craig Elvin. With the goal at his mercy, Elvin's effort was well blocked by Zilic.

The Knights opened the second half with a few half chances, but the Knights were outfoxed by the experienced Kingston outfit in the 54th minute. A clever switch by Spiteri found his partner in crime Curcija on the right flank. From a tight angle, Curcija managed to squeeze in his second for the afternoon.

The home side toiled hard, taking the game to visitors. Neven Antic gave the home side plenty of run on the right flank late in the game, however for all their endeavour the Knights could only manufacture a couple of half chances. In the end, Kingston were too clinical and efficient in front of goals. signalling an ominous warning to the rest of the competition.

By Bruno Zovko

Joe Biskic Coach, Melbourne Knights:

When I look back and analyse the game I'd have to say that Kingston thoroughly deserved to win today. They have more experience, they knew their job and they scored their goals from half chances which crucially decided the game. It's not that my players didn't try or whatever, but we just lost to a better team.

George Katsakis Coach, Kingston City:

Fantastic! We did really well and played a good brand of soccer. Conditions were pretty heavy but we still seemed to get through it. We kept our shape, got ourselves forward, kept possession really

SOUTH SAMBAS ALL OVER GULLY

GULLY NEEDS TO REGROUP AS SEASON SLIPS AWAY

South Melbourne 3 - 0 Green Gully

It was Latin American party night at the Bob Jane stadium on Sunday tinged with a touch of the Caribbean as a brace of goals to Brazilian Fernando De Moraes and a single to Trinidad and Tobago striker, Kevin Nelson gave the home side a three nil victory against the Green Gully Cavaliers.

South's other striker Andreas Oliveira played a prominent part in both DeMoraes goals, and could have had a couple himself.

The opening half saw an attacking game with both sides looking to get forward at their opponents.

South produced some flowing passing moves approaching the Cavaliers box with Oliveira and Nelson combining well with the South midfielders.

Nelson set up Oliveira for an attempt on goal which cannoned off Dean Fak.

Oliveira turned provider minutes later when he fed a pass across the Gully back line.

De Moraes struck the ball first time with a right foot shot that flew in off Schwalger's right hand post to give his side the lead. Oliveira then opened the Gully defense once more with another pass to DeMoraes who shot from distance into the arms of Schwalger.

Leading one-nil at the break, South wasted no time getting on to the front foot in the second half as the Oliveira and De Moraes combination threatened to unlock the Cavaliers defence again but for the outstretched arm of keeper Schwalger.

At the 55th minute mark, Gully striker Matthew Sander's fine first touch on the end of a forty meter Lubo Lapsanky pass took him in behind the South defense but his shot was wide of the target.

Almost immediately after, De Moraes stepped up to take a free kick after a Fak foul on Oliveira on the edge of the box. The Brazilian's curled free kick over the wall beat Schwalger to give South a 2-0 lead. Four minutes later, DeMoraes had the chance to score his hat trick when a diagonal ball put him through beyond Schwalger with the goal at his mercy only to see his shot hit the upright.

Gully responded by pressing a lot higher up the park forcing South into increased turnovers as Jeff Fleming and Andy Vargas tried to lift their team. Coach John Anastasiadis tried to freshen up a tiring midfield by introducing Bill Natsioulas and George Tzirtis.

On 75 minutes Oliveira turned inside Fak after receiving a Nelson flick on, and struck a 25 meter right foot shot which cannoned off Schwalger's left upright.

Kevin Nelson capped a fine individual performance when he outsprinted a tiring Zoran Markovsky and kept his composure to slot the ball inside Schwalger's near post in the 84th minute.

At the other end Sander's header from a Brandon Vassallo cross to the far post cleared the upright. Fleming also powered a header straight into Dean Anasasiadis's arms.

The win consolidates South's position in the top six and leaves the reigning champion Green Gully further adrift of the six.

By George Stogiannou

John Anastasiadis Coach, South Melbourne:

I thought the boys played exceptionally well with all the injuries and suspensions we're carrying at the moment. The boys that stepped in did a fantastic job. Very very pleased with the result today... there's a fair few games yet to go, but we're getting better and better, which is great to see.

Andrew Marth: Coach, Green Gully:

I thought it was a very disappointing game. We looked far slower than South Melbourne and in the end the result clearly stated that. Our season is vitually on the line in these next few weeks and we have to look forward to facing Oakleigh next Friday night.

GEORGIES WIN SECOND IN A ROW AND CLIMB AWAY FROM RELEGATION ZONE

BLUES IN DIRE STRAITS AND BEGIN TO FEEL THE HEAT

Sunshine Georgies 3 - 1 Fawkner/Whittlesea

SUNSHINE has leapfrogged Fawkner/ Whittlesea on the Vodafone Cup ladder after scoring a 3-1 victory in a bruising encounter at Chaplin Reserve on Sunday.

A double from Mark Draycott helped the Georgies to their second win in a row while the Blues slumped to their eighth loss in 13 appearances.

Both sides went into the match desperate for the three points after disappointing first halves of the season.

After a cautious opening few minutes Sunshine signalled its intent to attack when Dusko Delic sprung forward with a dangerous midfield run, and his powerful low shot just fizzed past the upright. It was the best chance of the first 15 minutes as both sides looked to gain the midfield ascendancy.

The visiting Blues managed to put the ball into the back of the net in the first 20 minutes, but the celebrations of Mark Tsiorlas were waved away by the assistant referee's offside flag.

Sunshine hit back in the 22nd minute through Draycott, who scuffed a golden opportunity from close range after a low cross from the flank.

The missed chance meant little 10 minutes later when the Georgies finally broke the deadlock, the goal coming courtesy of a messy goalmouth scramble.

Among a sea of flaying arms and legs, Draycott got boot to ball and watched as it dribbled past Fawkner goalkeeper Steven Tilovski. The goal was the only difference between the sides as the referee blew for half time, but the game was still well and truly up for grabs.

Sunshine started the second period as it did the first, enjoying most of the possession in its forward half and looking the team most likely to score.

The Blues' forwards were finding the going tough, and coach John Markovski rolled the dice by replacing defender Mark Vazzochi for striker Ricky Chillico. Markovski injected himself into the play shortly after, partnering Tsiorlas up front.

But the tactics failed at first as the Georgies continued to do most of the attacking. In the 63rd minute a corner taken by Vasko Trpcevski was struck into a dangerous position in the Blues' penalty area, causing plenty of panic among the defenders. After several blocked shots, the Fawkner defence prevailed and the danger was again averted.

After a sustained period of attack, Sunshine fans rejoiced as the second goal was scored midway though the half. Substitute Trent Waterson found space on the right flank and pulled his shot into the post, but Draycott was on hand to smash home the rebound and make it 2-0. Any chance of a late comeback was quashed 10 minutes from time when Fidel Richards netted the sealer, again after some fine work out wide from Draycott. Fawkner/Whittlesea's goal came two minutes into injury time, from the head of Sasa Ognenovski, but it was little consolation as his side left empty handed.

By James Taylor

Fab Incantalupo Asst coach, Sunshine Georgies:

We set ourselves the target to win two games in a row and I thought we really played well today and kept our discipline. We really attacked them and exposed them... it was great to score multiple goals again for the second week in a row. The boy's confidence is really starting to come through.

Tony Ciancar Asst coach, Fawkner/Whittlesea:

Very disappointing to say the least...we knew it was going to be difficult with players at Georgies fighting for a place in the team. All credit to them for coming at us...we were very ordinary and were still in our starting blocks after 90 mins. It's just not good enough...there was no consistency...players need to take a good, hard look at themselves to determine their future in the Premier

MAGIC ENCOUNTER ENDS SCORELESS

NO GOALS BUT POINTS SHARED AT PAISLEY PARK

Altona Magic 0 - 0 Heidelberg United

The Round 13 0-0 draw between Altona Magic and Heidelberg United was a fair result and the solitary point leaves both clubs hovering around the top end of the table.

However both sides failed to make any impact in this match on the leaders of the Vodafone Cup at Paisley Park on Saturday night. Altona and Heidelberg struggled to take a firm grip on this match as they battle out a 0-0 draw under the lights. It came as little surprise that this game ended scoreless as both sides have been the only teams involved in goalless draws this season.

Andy Valhos was the one player from the visitors who tried to lift the game with his driving runs from the middle of the park and was the one highlight of the first half. Without his activity on the ground many people would have gone home at half time.

We had to wait until the 20th minute before we saw a shot on goal from the home side and this was down to a mistake from a sleepy Berger's defence. Tomi Razov collected a ball from just outside the Hedelberg penalty box but his resultant pass collected by Opazo finished up closer to the corner flag than the goal. Time and time again in the first half both teams let themselves down with their finishing in front of goal. Then all of a sudden the a move between Joe Tricarico, Jim Drossos and Nick Sabljak almost brought on the opening goal but as so many times before the last ball was just off target.

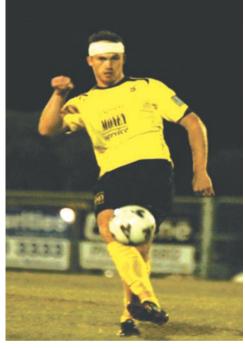

This was the story of the first half and spectators were left hoping for a better second half during the half-time break.

The second half was so much better and the watching public would have thought it was two different sides come out from the dressing rooms.

In the 65th minute brilliant skill by Joe Tricarico almost gave the Berger's the lead when from absolutely nothing he hit a shot from 25 yards out only for the ball to come back of the inside of the post and run into safety. This seemed to give the game a lift it really needed. Moment's later the league's top scorer Sash Becvinovski found himself one on one with the keeper but unusually the striker's his finish was very poor as the ball flew over the crossbar. As the game entered the final few minutes both sides seemed to get the extra space they were looking for but each time they had a good chance on goal they messed it up. So in the end a draw was a fair result and nether side really deserved all the points.

By Paul Jefferies

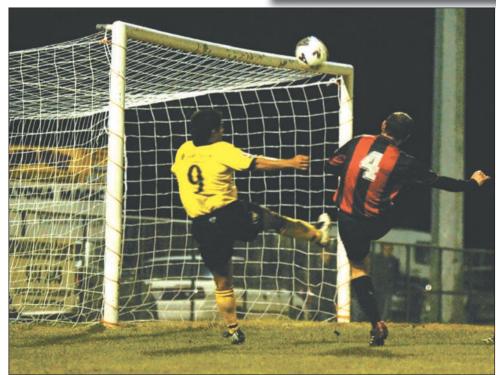

Kenny Murphy Coach, Altona Magic:

It was a decent game...I think it was a good quality game, apart from the missed chances and very even. Although both teams had their fair share of chances we looked like the more likely to score. I was happy with the way we played against last year's Grand Finalists. Although the goals have dried up a bit for us recently, we've now got the best defensive record in the league and we've worked very hard at achieving that.

Phil Stubbins Coach, Heidelberg United:

I think it was very good game. If you look at the gilt edge chances, they probably swayed towards Altona...but I felt that in the phases of play we certainly dominated for long periods. I think the possible differences between the two sides was their ability in the final third as oppose to ours...I don't think we really fulfilled our opportunities on Saturday night. But having said that, to a man, we put in a fantastic effort to go to Altona and get a result. I was quite pleased with it all.

CANNONS BLAST FOUR PAST HAPLESS PINES

TITLE FAVOURITES GET BACK TO WINNING WAYS

Oakleigh Cannons 4 - 1 Frankston Pines

The Oakleigh Cannons illustrated why they are widely regarded as the championship favourites, after they bounced back from a defeat at Bulleen on Monday to humble the Frankston Pines 4-1 at Jack Edwards Reserve.

With several key players missing through injury and having to play twice within a week, Stuart Munro's men put on a professional and "hungry" performance.

Following their positive result against South Melbourne last week, the visitors came out looking for a win as they fielded an attacking line up, led by Nick Waite and the instrumental Tass Psonis. The early stages resembled a light-weight boxing bout with both sides feeling each other and trading minor blows. Sixteen minutes into the match, the deadlock was broken when Gorge Goutzioulis opened the scoring. The temperamental attacker shot past Kierin McIvor from just inside the box after Juan Nilo was able to put him through on goal with a cheeky flick on.

With the Cannons supporters still celebrating their goal, Frankston hit back almost immediately after right winger Cameron Jones was brought down by Anton Kovacic in a fairly innocuous challenge. Captain Cameron Leopold made no mistake from the spot and drew the visitor's level. Unfortunately for the Pines players and supporters it proved to be the last time they would smile, as the Cannons lifted a gear and began to assert their class over the park.

The Cannons soon began to pile on the pressure and Con Boutsianis clearly vindicated the faith shown in by his manager by causing havoc on the left and supplying his forwards with pin point crosses. Esala Masi was brilliantly denied by McGivor from point blank range, however in the 32nd minute the former Fijian international showed a great change of pace and shot from an angle which took a cruel deflection and restored the home sides lead. The purple patch continued for Masi when he perfectly looped a header past the despairing McIvor, following a superb cross from Boutsianis in the 41st minute to make

Six minutes into the second half and the visitors misery continued when Nilo was able to pounce on a loose ball and expertly slot the ball past McIvor. The Pines number One only managed to parry Boutsianis's wickedly bending free kick which fell invitingly to the pint size striker, who made the score 4-1.

The goal immediately influenced a double change from Frankston's newly appointed coach Craig Lewis, who needed to restore some parity, however with the result beyond doubt the home side controlled the tempo and enjoyed the major share of possession and continued to carve out opportunities for their front men. Boutsianis came agonizingly close in the 55th minute, when his long range free kick was narrowly finger tipped past Frankston's left hand upright.

Masi had multiple chances to complete a well deserved hat-rick but lacked the composure

Stuart Munro Coach, Oakleigh Cannons:

Obviously it was great to get back on track after our first loss to Bulleen on Monday. Full credit to Frankston who made life difficult for us in the first 20 mins, but in the second half we played very well...we kept the ball, showed a lot of patience which resulted in the goals that we were looking for.

Adam Jamieson Coach, Frankston Pines:

Everything was going to plan the first 20-25 mins...ten mins before half time they scored a couple of goals which put us on the back foot. After half time we were very ordinary...the fight and the endeavour that the Pine normally puts out there was lacking. Oakleigh were too good on the night, they were fantastic.

Man of the Match Adam Ewin (Cannons)

to cap a superb evening. In contrast, the Pines opportunities dried as they lacked the ability to penetrate a resolute defence. However, in a rare moment of complacency late in the match, Waite found a way past Felix Rosman, but was unable to beat his former team-mate Stuart Webster under the posts.

The result allows the Cannons to establish a mini break on their nearest rivals and seem to have put the minor hic-up against Bullen behind them. In contrast, the Pines will be bitterly disappointed and will know they will have to show significant improvement if they do not wish to be drawn into a relegation battle at the end of the season.

PRESTON APPROACHES HALF-WAY MARK WITH HOPE

Essendon Royals 1 - 3 Preston Lions

A 3-1 triumph over the Essendon Royals saw the Preston Lions record an all-important third win of the season at Veneto club on Friday night in Round 13 of the Vodafone Cup. 1-1 at half time, An Erhan Karahan strike just before the hour mark proved to be the winner.

It was a stroke of luck that gave Preston an early lead, Anthony Magnacca's deflected shot finding the net in the 11th minute. Wide on the left flank, Magnacca hit a powerful right foot shot, the ricochet sending the ball in at Marko Sutalo's near post. Essendon responded positively and in the 20th minute the Royals got their reward for some enterprising crosses and diagonal balls. A Steve Fitzsimmons cross from the right flank was headed in by Henry Fa'Arodo, who rose highest at the near post to level the match.

Both sides then engaged in a struggle for control of the ball and the only decisive chance for the rest of the first half was a Fitzsimmons free kick in the 39th minute. 30 yards from goal, Fitzsimmons' dead ball strike required Preston's young keeper Ozdemir to dive full length to his right to make the save.

Preston created all the chances at the start of the second half. Marinos Gasparis forcing a save from Sutalo in the 46th minute, Tayfun Devrimol firing just wide in the 52nd. They were however, fortunate to take the lead in the 59th minute when Sutalo spilt a cross onto the feet of Erhan Karahan. Standing in a pack of players, Karahan swept the ball into the open net to give Preston a 2-1 lead.

Preston continued to control possession, preventing Essendon any clear cut chances thereafter. In the 90th minute Preston iced the match with Blaze Gorgioski capping a tireless performance in the forward line by laying off an assist for an open Magnacca who fired home Preston's

The victory lifts some pressure of Preston coach Goran Lozanovski who has carried the burden of reviving the Lions' 2006 campaign following the departure of Vlado Vanis back in Round 6. the Lions have had their share of mixed results but for the first time this season they look capable of making a surge forward.

Preston travel to Knights Stadium in round 14 of the Vodafone Cup, Essendon away to Richmond at Kevin Bartlett Reserve.

By Teo Pellizzeri

Luciano Trani Coach, Essendon Royals:

It was in the balance, we had a few openings in the first half" said Trani. "Hopefully we can string a few more good performances together, but we need to convert our chances. I thought tonight was a fine line, and obviously towards the end we needed to push forward and they created a few openings because of it.

Goran Lozanovski Coach, Preston Lions:

It was a morale boosting win, I think like every other team in the bottom four or five, we needed to win.

I think we tried to play pretty football, we were positive going forward. When we go forward we look fantastic, we were very very quick. At the back, we still look a bit shaky but we're working on it

ZEBRAS AND EAGLES LOOKING TO BUILD ON WINS

MONDAY NIGHT FACE-OFF AWAITS INTENSE BATTLE

Bulleen Zebras vs Richmond Eagles

Round 13 of the Vodafone Cup concludes when the highflying Bulleen Zebras host the lowly Richmond Eagles at the Veneto Club on Monday night.

Following a comprehensive performance in their victory over Preston last round, the Dean Hennessey led Eagles will be looking to consolidate and use the performance as a platform to reignite their season.

Whilst the side has remained competitive throughout this year, Richmond has struggled to capitalise on its scoring chances and has proved to be one of the least efficient teams in the competition when moving forward.

However, the introduction of import James Robinson has proved to be the catalyst needed to turn their fortunes around, and despite his absence in their victory last round, the attacker has drastically improved the fortunes of the side, and combined with the recent form of Daniel Visevic, has given the forward line a formidable look.

Recently, the Eagles have made a habit of performing admirably without earning the three points however, after last weeks drought breaking win the side would be hoping to turn the proverbial tide.

Despite fielding more than four players from the reserves team, Richmond were unlucky to lose A-League side Melbourne Victory on Wednesday, in promising signs for the club. However, the Eagles proved to be their worst enemy as they continued their recent spate of bad luck in front of goals spurning many golden scoring chances. In stark contrast to Richmond's lowly position, the quiet achievers of the competition, Bulleen, has steadily moved up the table and made itself a fixture in the top six.

Although their performances have been marred by bouts of relative inconstancy, the Zebras have emerged as the 'dark horse' of the competition. Prior to last weeks sensational win over league leaders Oakleigh, the Zebras went winless for three weeks in a period of sporadic performances which climaxed with a resounding loss to the previously struggling South Melbourne.

However, in a quick reversal of form, Bulleen sent shockwaves through the competition with its surprise 1-0 win over the competition favourites thanks to a first minute strike by club top scorer Hamlet Armenian.

With a style of play characterised by its apparent team orientated approach, Bulleen has struggled to find the back of the net all season and is the lowest scoring team in the Vodafone Cup whilst possessing the worst defensive record of sides in the top six, proving that statistics solely paint a portion of the true picture.

However, despite their lack of a proven goal scorer, the Zebras have become the competition's pre-eminent force when it comes to grinding out results, a trait that few sides possess.

Following the confidence-boosting win over Preston, the Eagles seem primed to mount an assault on the competition and against Bulleen, they have a chance to build on their performance and should be confident of earning a result.

By Simon Chiarelli

Michael Michalakopoulos Coach, Bulleen Zebras:

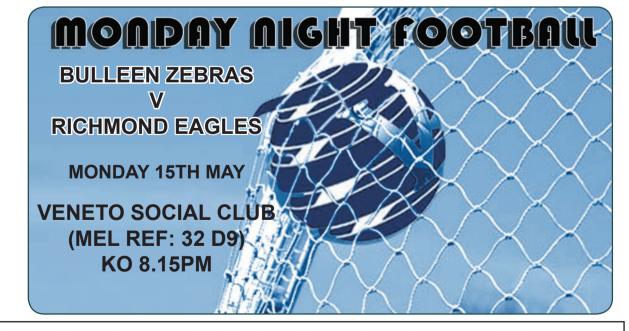

It's going quite positively after the victory against the Cannons on Monday night. It's given us an added impetus and confidence and we just need to approach each game with the same strength of character, knowing that when you're playing a team near the bottom they're as hungry as anyone. We got a really big opportunity now...four out of our next games are at home...with some positive results it could really step up the rest of our season. We have to start by taking three points against the teams below us.

Dean Hennessey Coach, Richmond Eagles:

It's the last game on the turn and we've got to continue what we started against Preston last week. We've got to go there and get a result, and it's a big game now especially after Preston won on Friday night...but we're confident we can do it and our defence is looking a lot more solid. I've always felt if we can get that side of things right we're good enough to hurt teams at the other end.

STATE-LEAGUE-ONE BOUND 6

This weeks round of the Vodafone State League One was one that didn't include a Friday night game for a change but no less then three games on Saturday night.

The first game was a Saturday day game where at the Dunstan reserve the home side in Brunswick City was defeated three goals to one by North Coburg. The goal scorers for the victorious North Coburg were Frank Bazzano, Alexander Josifovski and Robert Dolevski while the lone goal for the home side was scored by Con Vouloumanos. This represents the first win of the season for North Coburg and will hopefully be seen by the side from Reddish Reserve as the start of their revival and a climb off the foot of the table. Down at Brunswick they must be a little concerned with only one win in their past four games and three losses. Last season also saw them start well and then they fell off the pace so they will want to ensure that lightning doesn't strike again this season.

The second game also a Saturday day game saw Langwarrin easily brush aside the Bentliegh Greens by a convincing scoreline of 4-1. Goal scorers for Langwarrin were Caleb Nichols with a pair and Andrew Skledar, while for the Greens their lone strike came from Ben Coggar. Langwarrin is in red hot form right now with three wins and three draws from six games and in Caleb Nichols has a player who seems to produce goals every week and who surely is capable of playing at a higher level. Bentleigh has settled in pretty well to this standard after its relegation from the VPL, amassing six points to date but they will want to get a few more positive results to keep themselves within arms length of the few teams below them.

The early Saturday evening game down at the SS Anderson reserve in Port Melbourne say a battle of two Greek backed clubs and it was the home side, the Sharks who prevailed over Northcote City by a score of 2-0. Goals either side of the half time whistle by Mitch Pino and Ihor Khrapko saw the home side grasp a win. Both sides have had reasonably solid starts to the season amassing seven points each and will be looking to get some positive results and consolidate their mid table spots and shoot for those vital top two spots in the league.

The first of the two late Saturday games was at the George Andrews reserve in Dandenong where Hugo Reyes for the thunder and Tony Saric for North Geelong traded goals in what proved to be a lively and entertaining one all draw. North Geelong sit in second place a point behind Langwarrin but with a game in hand on them and with the squad they have you'd think that's where they would be for the most of the season, again they are my pick to win it all and gain automatic promotion into the VPL in 07. Thunder have had an awful start to the season being in second last spot and maybe a point against a side like Geelong could be a fillet for their season.

The second of the late games was down in Keysborough as the Springvale White eagles shared the points with St Albans in a two goals all draw. For the eagles there were goals for Neboisa Vukosavljevic and for the saints the goals were scored by Jure Radosevic. Both sides have had reasonable starts to the season and will be fairly happy with where they are at but will be looking to make a surge into the top three of the league.

The final game took place on Sunday where another two Greek backed sides met at Paisley park where the phoenix of Altona East drew one goal a piece with near neighbors Western Suburbs. Billy Mitanidis scored for Altona East while the goal scorer for Suburbs was not listed. Suburbs sit pretty in third spot and have had a start that's out of the box considering last season's problems. They must remain consistent amid what is to be a barrage of teams chasing them down.

MATCH REPORTS

NORTH COBURG SIMPLY OUT-CLASS HAPLESS BRUNSWICK

Brunswick City 1 North Coburg 3

One could be forgiven for thinking that this game was a mismatch as North Coburg found themselves at the foot of the table before this fixture whilst Brunswick were at the opposite end. But right from the onset the visitors boasting their new Premier League signings of Dolevski and Mancevski took the game by the horns pushing Brunswick into their back third consistently.

North Coburg opened the scoring in the 15' when Robert Dolevski hammered the ball into the net after a corner was not dealt with well enough by the Brunswick defence.

They doubled their score five minutes later when Aleksander Josifovski's long range shot bounced in front of Morales hitting his chest and deflecting side ways into the net. Brunswick was perhaps fortunate not to go 3-0 down before the major break as Steve Mancevski's shot rattled the crossbar.

To their credit Brunswick persevered and got themselves back in the game but had Jim Vouloumanos substituted due to a hamstring strain. A minute later, in the 37', his brother, Con Vouloumanos, got onto the end of a Squillacioti corner and pegged one back for Brunswick. North Coburg were clearly the best team in the half but Brunswick did end the half in promising fashion giving their faithful supporters hope for the second half.

The second half did not begin well for the home team as Zach was given his marching orders in the 58' by referee Mr. Natsioulas after receiving his second yellow card of the match. Brunswick tried to gather momentum through Greechan but the North Coburg defence held tight through experienced defender, Jolevski and a sound performance by Mustafa Mustafa.

With ten men Brunswick did well to not only hold out North Coburg but created some positive moves as well. Unfortunately though the visitors were too strong and even though Mancevksi's shot was just cleared of the line by Karkaletsis in the 82'another goalkeeping error by Morales when he missed a regulation save made the final score 1-3

To add insult to injury Karkaletsis was also sent off before the final whistle for dissent towards the referee. For Brunswick two losses in a row and the thought of entertaining the very tough Langwarrin next week will create headaches for the coaching staff especially with the omissions of Zach and Karkaletsis (suspended) and with the doubtful availability of J.Vouloumanos and Ben Stafrace (injured).

For Savvas Saglam the pressure has eased for the first time this season as his team picked up the first three points of their season and perhaps the axe grinder can have the week off and the transfer booklet left in the top drawer for this week.

Goalscorers: C. Vouloumanos 37' (BC) R. Dolevski 15', A.Josifovski 20', F.Bazzano 84' (NC) Best: Danos, Greechan, Jackson, C.Vouloumanos

Line up: Morales, Zach, Danos, Jackson, Karkaletsis J.Vouloumanos (34' Tsimiklis), Squillacioti (72' Sherman), C.Vouloumanos, Galea, Greechan, Stafrace (83' Skeoch)

Reserves: The reserve team put on their most impressive display for the season winning emphatically 5-1. After conceding an early goal in the 8' they showed good character to force the visitors into their back third, Goals to John Karavitis(24') and Adam Franklin, who rose high between to defenders to header home, gave Brunswick the lead at half time. In the second half the strikers got in on the act with Stefan Litinakis finishing a good cross from Ayache and then the provider became the receiver to make it 4-1. Finally Omar Ayache scored a great individual goal when he beat a number of players and shot truly to make it 5-1.

Best: Franklin, Karavitis, Papageorgiou, Ayache, Sarpa

KNOX AND DIAMOND VALLEY SHARE SPOILS

Knox City 2 Diamond Valley 2 (Half-time 2-1)

Knox City and Diamond Valley started the day with identical records and finished the same way as they shared four goals in a robust, well-contested match at Egan Lee Reserves on Saturday.

The result was a fair reflection on a game in which both sides created enough chances to take all three points. For the home side, Matt Durand scored his sixth and seventh goals in just five games, but he might have helped his team make the game safe just after half-time, when a 3-1 lead beckoned, but he chose to go for goal himself, when a pass to an unmarked Ziada seemed the better option.

Knox took the lead after only eight minutes, when Ramsey Nasser broke down the right flank and he sent in a perfect cross to the far post where Durand rose high to head home. Less than a minute later Diamond Valley were on level terms with an almost identical move. This time it was Unwin on the right flank and his unerring cross was met with a powerful header from Court to level the scores.

This equalizer seemed to unsettle Knox and the visitors had a spell of sustained pressure, with Jorgensen being forced to make a fine save from Unwin.

Just as half-time beckoned, Knox regained the lead as Durand intercepted a poor cross field pass and strode forward to drive the ball past Guler in the Valley goal.

With Knox missing a couple of opportunities to put some space between the teams. Diamond Valley equalized after 59 minutes when Murat eased his way passed three ineffectual challenges outside the Knox penalty area and then drove a sublime shot past the despairing dive of Jorgensen.

The last half an hour was end to end stuff but neither side could break the deadlock.

Knox City: Jorgensen, Sobrio, Humphreys, Orlando, S. Nasser, R. Nasser, Ziada (Roslan – 50th), Spina, Vernon, C. Durand, M. Durand. Subs not used – Swami, Alinejad, Pinter. Diamond Valley: Guler, Kara, Davie, Murat, Laing, Court, Wilhelm (Love – 46th), Guiliano, Ergin, Cameron, Unwin (Simsek – 63rd). Subs not used – Raynes, Pace.

State League 2 SE Wrap

There was mass movement in the top half of Division Two South East as all top six clubs changed positions, whilst the bottom half of the table stayed the same. The boilover occurred when Stonnington, pointless in their first five games beat top of the table Cranbourne with a last minute goal from defender Anthony Edgar. Needless to say, Stonnington's coach, Andy Humble was delighted with the win. He said that Cranbourne put his side under pressure in the first half, but he was pleased with the way his team responded in the second half. With bottom side, Clayton next week, life suddenly looks a little easier for him. Cranbourne dropped to third as a consequence of the loss. Doncaster moved up two places to go top of the division with a comprehensive 5-0 defeat of Clayton, Stefanidis bagging two goals. Doncaster have now scored 13 goals in their last three games.

Waverley Wanderers moved up to second spot with a 3-0 win over Clifton Hill at Carlson Reserve, Panagis scoring in the first half and Strapelias and Mitchell after the break. The match between South Springvale and Southern Stars looked like if might be over by half-time as Thierry Boi gave the visitors the lead and then doubled the advantage from the penalty spot. Just before half-time, Southern Stars were awarded a second penalty but this time Tony Stango in the South Springvale goal

Three minutes after the break, South Springvale pulled a goal back and with player coach Ange Goutzioulis on the park they proceeded to make the running. Southern Stars' coach, Frank McGrellis, said that it was battle from them on as the home side had a goal disallowed as they continued to search for the equalizer. As a result Southern Stars moved into fourth position and South Springvale, which lost its first game of the season dropped to fifth.

saved the spot-kick.

Chelsea also lost its first game of the season 1-0 to Eastern Lions, whose coach, Joe Carroll was pleased with the way his team pressured the skilful Chelsea side and never gave them any respite. A close game was decided mid-way through the second half when Carlo Mason got the winner for the home side.

Knox City and Diamond Valley started the day with identical records and finished the same after a 2-2 result in a well-fought, robust game at Egan Lee Reserve. Matt Durand scored his sixth and seventh goals of the season for Knox and Mark Court and Sefgi Murat scored for the visitors. The teams remain in seventh and eighth positions.

So the best F.A. Cup Final in years saw Liverpool beat West Ham on penalties. The common threads in recent Liverpool Cup victories seems to be penalty shootouts, Steven Gerrard leading a fightback with cracking long range goals and Harry Kewell coming off early with an injury. It must be a reasonably serious injury for Kewell as he was not jumping around as much during the post match celebrations as he did when they won last year's Champions League Final.

In the Scottish Cup, plucky underdogs Gretna showed some pluck to finish level with Hearts at 1-1 before their pluck deserted them in the penalty shoot-out at the Cup went home to Midlothian. I'm sure it more than made up for Frankston's loss at Oakleigh for Tommy Mitchell.

Seven weeks since a Vodafone Cup coaching change, but whose counting, except for me.

Keep up the great work lads, but remember one thing, those coaches whose teams are in the relegation zone, be very wary of any gatherings between more than two club administrators, they will be no doubt shaping your future, or lack of it at that slub.

Danger areas are usually the social rooms or in the case of administrators who smoke, the area directly outside the social rooms, a sure sign that they are discussing the coach's future is when they stop their conversation when the coach enters

And you will know that your time at the club is drawing to an end, when the President asks you if you have a minute!

Lights On, Lights off, lights on again. Jack Edwards Reserve, Friday Night's game against Frankston was nearly postponed due to a single floodlight not operating.

Thankfully common sense prevailed and the game went ahead. The standard of youth soccer in Australia is at an all time low, following the National Under 20's recent quinella of home defeats to New Zealand.

Such a result would have been unheard of some 10-15 years ago when our Youth National Teams were playing a leading role at the World Cup Finals

It is vital that this area be addressed immediately, as we no longer have the luxury of qualifying to the World Cup Finals by playing teams in the Oceania Group, we now have to qualify via Asia, whose teams are much stronger.

Personally, I have never been a fan of developing players via Institutes of Sport, such as the AIS or VIS. These Institutes may provide more regular training sessions, but they lack competitive games for the players, and by competitive games, I mean games for league points, opposed to friendly games that the VIS as one example, play each week against Premier League opponents.

Looking at the Australian Under 20 Squad, it consists of 17 of the 24 man squad being players from the Australian Institute of Sport.

These players have been selected as being Australia's elite Youth Players, and as such, are part of an extensive training program at the AIS, whose aim is to develop these players further.

I have always believed that players at Institute's lack the experience required to play at the National Level, as they do not play regularly week in, week out in either the A-League, or the various State Premier leagues.

Food for thought for the Administrators of the game at both National and Local levels, Youth Soccer in Australia is in need of a complete overhaul. Big statement you may say, results or lack of them speak for themselves, and right now, the Australian National Youth teams are not getting the required results.

Winning Teams after getting the desired result in a game, usually sing a club song together, after the game.

If I had a dollar for every club that uses the Celtic Club song of "It's a Grand Old Team", I would be able to retire with my assistants on a sunny Greek Island!

It seems that 99.9% of clubs sing this song after a Victory. There are some clubs though who have shown some originality and come up with their own club songs.

Clifton Hill have used the AFL team, Richmond's, club song and changed the lyrics to suit their club name. Northcote City is another example who use North Melbourne's club song and have changed the lyrics also.

Speaking of Northcote City, I was invited back to their dressing rooms after their win over Dandenong Thunder last weekend, and it had a real community feel to it as many spectators had gathered their to watch the players sing their club song.

Peter Kotsiris, long time Northcote Administrator led the chant, and watching him sing the song, reminded me of John Elliot ala Carlton Football club days.

North Caulfield Soccer Club have taken the community involvement aspect even further as they allow their spectators into the dressing rooms at half time, to listen to the coach's address to the players.

I did take full advantage of this two years ago when I was at the Waverley Wanderers and during a crucial promotion match between the two clubs, I followed the North Caulfield supporters into their club's rooms to hear the Coaches half Dressed in the Wanderers jacket I took in everything that Jimmy McLean, North Caulfield's coach, had to say and then quickly passed on all of this information to the Waverley coach!

On a serious note, at the time of writing this article, Oakleigh Canon's player Peter Kakos is putting up the biggest fight of his life to recover from a serious illness.

Perry Tsiaplas, coach of Berwick Kings has also had to put up his own fight against health prob-

I'm sure that the entire Soccer Community will join me in wishing Peter and Perry a speedy recovery!

This is Katsa- But not as you've known him & when the Fat Lady sings, hopefully you will be happy with the result.

KRNCEVJC'S KRUNCHLJNES

Victorian soccer legend Eddie Krncevic represented Australia 35 times and scored 17 goals. He played professionally in Europe for Dimano Zagreb (Croatia), MSV Duisberg (Germany), Mulhouse (France) and Anderlecht, FC Liege , Aalst and Charleroi in Belgium. Eddie writes for Goal! Weekly every fortnight.

Like most of you I managed to watch the English FA Cup Final over the weekend. Congratulations to all the Liverpool fans out there who will no doubt be pleased thier club managed to finish off a productive season with some notable silverware. I can't help but sympathise for West Ham United who were only seconds away from creating a remarkable Cup fairytale and were so close to causing a memorable upset. At long last we had a Final that lived up to its billing which was filled with plenty of high drama, goals and excitement. The obvious concern of worry for Socceroo fans was the exit of Harry Kewell from the field with a suspected recurrance of his groin injury. Poor Harry, just like the Champions League Final last year, the match finished 3-3, Liverpool eventually won on penalties and he had to leave the field just as all the action was about to hot up.

Unfortunately, as the respective domestic leagues approach their climax and with so many important games on offer as clubs either vie for honours or survival, as well as World Cup selections to play for, no one is holding back and it is inevitable that injuries will get the better of some players. For Australia's sake let's hope it's not too cruel for Kewell.

Recently the Socceroo camp received a huge scare when Mark Schwarzer and Tim Cahill also appeared to have their World Cup dreams dashed due to injuries.

In my opinion, we could probably get away with covering the 'keeper position as we have excellant cover in Zelko Kalac. But to be honest, we would seriously struggle to find adequate replacements for the likes of Kewell and Cahill.

JAMES TAYLOR

I read with interest James Taylor's article in last week's Goal! Weekly. James brought up some interesting points that I believe touched on some key issues that have been of concern to the FFV and Victorian football fans for some time. Let's just hope that clubs can see the bigger picture and not miss the boat this time around as football's wave of popularity will soon reach our local clubs. If we get the facilities right, there's no reason why the Vodafone Cup cannot become Australia's undisputed premier state competition and the nations second best league after the A-league. The standard this year has probably been the best we've seen in a long time, so let's do our best to try and look after the folk who turn out to support the code week in, week out through rain, hail or shine.

Apart from that, I'm really looking forward the second half of the Vodafone Cup season as it shapes up to be one really tight contest. A couple of wins and you're in the mix for finals football...a couple of draws or a defeat and all of a sudden your team has got a relegation battle on its hands.

It's all to play for and I'm looking on with great interest. Best of luck to all teams.

Until next time,

Eddie.

BAYSJDE FOOTBALL LEAGUE

The weather may have cooled down but the heat has just been turned up in the Bayside Premier League.

Western Port Wanderers and Hampton Park United are locked in a very intense battle at the top with both teams recording vital wins in Round 6.

League leaders Western Port traveled to Rosebud and were able to inflict Rosebud's first loss at home with a 2-1 result. Western Port maintains top spot thanks to a superior goal difference over Hampton Park United.

No surprises that goals were scored between Hampton Park United and Pines Condors, but who would have the most. Pines Condors have a reputation of scoring plenty but lose out on the other end. This time Hampton Park United just got the better but they needed four goals as the Condors fired in three of their own.

Mt Lilydale Old Collegians dramatically moved out of the relegation zone with a fine 4-0 away win over Knox City Harlequins. This in turn has drop Knox City into ninth place whilst Mt Lilydale moves into 7th, only three points from third place.

Peninsula Panthers had no answers for the Bayswater Strikers when the host team fails to score against the Strikers three goals. Peninsula remains on the foot of the table but the Bayswater Strikers move into the top half of the league table into fifth position.

To finish off Boronia Knights and Croydon Ranges fought out a 1-1 draw that keeps Croydon in third place, though now two further points away from Hampton and Western Port. For Boronia they dropped down to sixth place. Boronia still has the worst attack in the league, but the best defence.

ittack in the league, but the best defend

Premier Reserves

Reigning champs Knox City are slowing getting themselves into contention after a slow start to the season with a win over Mt Lilydale. However both leaders, Croydon and second place Hampton Park got the wins over Boronia and Condors respectively.

Ladies Division

The Frankston Pines and Cusctalan fought out an entertaining game with the first goal coming in the 40sec mark for the Pines by Natasha Davies followed by a goal for Cusctalan in the second minute Eventually the Pines got the better and won 4-2. No surprises in the other match with Hampton Park United winning 5-0 against the Frankston Fillies. Hampton has yet to have a goal scored against them.

Division 1

It's a lonely place at the top for Langwarrin as they continue to show dominance in this division as other teams take points off each other.

Langwarrin was able to gain a very valuable win at home over Cerberus with a 2-0 win. Baxter Eagles moves into second after downing Mornington Power in a ten goal thriller 6-4. Mornington now drops to fifth place behind Cerberus. Monash Peninsula moves into third position after gaining a 3-0 walkover. But The Frankston Outlaws must have had their wheatbix in the morning as they destroyed Boronia Cavaliers 9-2!

Division 2

Parkmore dominance in this league is still their but not quite prominent like in the early stages as they manage only a 2-1 win over bottom team Boronia Barons. Chelsea Old Boys are on a roll at the moment and now moves into second position after another fine win, this time against Endeavour Sporting. Cranbourne Comets Gold drop to third place after losing to Inter Milangy. Mornington Glory got all the glory with a huge 7-3 win over Baxter Falcons. The first victory for Mornington Glory this season.

Division 3

Phillip Island has moved three points clear on top with a 6-2 win over nearest rival Seaford Untied. Frankston Pines has still yet to taste victory but did manage a creditable 1-1 draw against Montrose B.

PREMERSHIP OPPORTUNITY FOR AUSSIE YOUNGSTERS

Three lucky young soccer players will be on their way to England in January for two weeks and will train with a Premiership club, thanks to the DOC Football Academy based at Eltham.

The DOC Academy, which was founded by David O'Connor in Singapore in 2002 and opened in Australia in October 2005 will fully fund the entire trip which will see three of their elite players train and be accessed by the Premier league club and hopefully open the door for a career in professional football. The names of the three players will be announced in October and a fourth name will be drawn out of a hat so that every player registered at the DOC Academy has a chance to go. The lucky name drawn out of the hat will do everything on the trip except train with the club but they will see them train and watch them in action in the Premiership as well as do sightseeing.

Academy Director David O'Connor has been very impressed by the standard of some of the youngsters who attend the weekly sessions, which seems to be growing in popularity with new children from 4 to 15 years of age registering each week. David says it proves that we are doing something right with over 100 children coming from all over Melbourne to learn new skills and techniques, but the emphasis is based on fun, which he believes is very important in getting the youngsters to enjoy this great

The Premiership has just concluded and a cloud of controversy has swept over the English game; Spurs bout of food poisoning hindered their quest for Champions league football ahead of their final game against West Ham, Steve McClaren was unveiled as Sven's mediocre second choice replacement, and the most topical subject throughout England is the surprise inclusion of Theo Walcott into England's World Cup squad for Germany...

It's not just because he is 17, or has only scored four goals in the Championship to his name, or the fact that he has never played in the Premiership despite being part of Arsenal's squad. It's probably because Sven-Goran Eriksson has never ever seen him play a competitive game of football. It's great having a young star on the team. No one knows what he's capable of (not even his own manager or team) but when two of the three remain remaining strikers (Wayne Rooney and Michael Owen) are injured and the remaining one, Peter Crouch has been continually bagged all season, you can see causes for concern.

Sven is still confident that his England team will go all the way to the World Cup final. Even with injury doubts hanging over his first choice strikers, he is certain his group of players will peak for the tournament. Taking Rooney is controversial, as even if England progress to the later stages when the striker recovers from his broken foot, surely the team who had progressed that far should continue?

Arsene Wenger obviously thinks highly of Theo Walcott, enough to be prepared to pay £12m for his services, yet not enough to play him, or put him on the bench during the season. Wenger explains: "The reason I did not use him this season was that I was never in a situation where I could afford to take a risk". This said, he has still urged Sven to give Theo Walcott a World Cup run. Does this mean that Arsenal's struggle for fourth place? For Wenger of course it does. Wenger also confirmed that Walcott would not play in Arsenal's Champions League final meeting with Barcelona under the terms of a gentleman's agreement made with Sven so he can join the England training camp in Portugal. Surely, an easy way for

Peter Crouch and Theo Walcott prepare to lead England's attack

Wenger to imply that he has the best interest for the England team. If Theo Walcott plays in England's next game against Hungary on 30 May, he will become England's youngest ever player, aged 17 years, 75 days. Rooney is currently England's youngest ever player after appearing against Australia in February 2003, aged 17 years, 111 days. Walcott has made only 21 senior appearances (all for Championship side Southampton this season), where Wayne Rooney had made 26 senior appearances before his England debut (all for Premiership side Everton).

Another notable youngster to make his debut in the World Cup is Pele, who at the age of just 17 years and 235 days, was not only the youngest World Cup player in 1958 but also soon the youngest ever goal scorer and the youngest ever World Cup winner.

In the past, England have been criticised for not having enough options to change if things are not going to plan. Possibly Sven's new plan is to go with a five-man midfield - Joe Cole, Frank Lampard, Steven Gerrard, David Beckham and Michael Carrick as the defensive holding player, with one up front starting with Crouch, then substituting for Owen and then for Walcott. Sven, not known for his cunning tactics, may have turned the negative picture of Rooney's injury into a positive and make sure the World Cup campaign did not begin on a flat note.

Final squad to be named on 15th May, then Sven has 24 hours before England's first game on 10 June to replace any injured players. Provisional squad:

Robinson (Tottenham), James (Manchester City), Green (Norwich); G Neville (Manchester United), Ferdinand (Manchester United), Terry (Chelsea), Cole (Arsenal), Campbell (Arsenal), Carragher (Liverpool), Bridge (Chelsea), Beckham (Real Madrid), Carrick (Tottenham), Lampard (Chelsea), Gerrard (Liverpool), Hargreaves (Bayern Munich), Jenas (Tottenham), Downing (Middlesbrough), J Cole (Chelsea), Lennon (Tottenham), Rooney (Manchester United), Owen (Newcastle), Crouch (Liverpool), Walcott (Arsenal). Standby:

Carson (Liverpool), Young (Charlton), Reo-Coker (West Ham), Defoe (Tottenham), Johnson (Crystal Palace).

UK FOOTBALL WRAP

LIVERPOOL TAKES SEVENTH CUP IN NIGHT OF DRAMA

CARDIFF, 13 May - Normally one man is designated a hero in a football match, but Liverpool had two on Saturday as Steven Gerrard and José Reina lifted Liverpool to a 3-1 penalty-shootout victory over West Ham United in the FA Cup final after a thrilling 3-3 draw.

Trailing by a goal in the dying stages, Gerrard hit a cracking shot to level the match at 3-3, and a hit post late in extra time by West Ham sent it to penalties where Reina saved three efforts in the victory.

The Hammers, who dominated early, were the first on the scoreboard in at Millennium Stadium on 21 minutes as a cross in on the ground by Lionel Scaloni was touched past Reina by Reds defender Jamie Carragher, gifting West Ham a deserved lead.

Seven minutes later, the man of the match at that point Dean Ashton made it 2-0, poking in the rebound after Reina spilled an effort by Matthew Etherington

Liverpool, though, were not to roll over and Djibril Cissé pulled them back within a goal after 32 minutes with a thunderous volley off of Gerrard's pass. Both sides then threatened the goals after that, but the match went to the break at 2-1 to the Hammers.

Nine minutes after the restart, Liverpool found themselves level as skipper Gerrard fires home after Peter Crouch got his head to a corner kick. That joy for Reds fans would soon turn to gloom, however.

Ten minutes later, West Ham snatched back the lead as Paul Konchesky inadvertently hit a deep ball up and over Reina into the corner of the goal for a 3-2 lead. It was a fluke at best, but it was enough to bring the Hammers fans back to life.

With Liverpool players, including Gerrard, succumbing to cramps as the match got into the latter stages, it apppeared unlikely that an equalizer would come. Enter Mr. Gerrard.

With 89 minutes played, the England international grabbed what looked like a harmless ball over 30 yards from goal, but he unleashed a powerful drive that eluded goal-keeper Shaka Hislop, sending the match to extra time.

EXTRA TIME

The first half of extra time was quite uneventful as players were grasping to find energy, but the second frame came alive as Fernando

Morientes nearly got on the end of a ball in by Mohamed Sissoko, but Hislop was able to gather at the last chance.

Then, with one minute to play before penalties, a header in on goal by Nigel Reo-Coker had to be pushed onto the post by Reina. Then, a failed clearance led to another chance by Marlon Harewood, but his shot went wide, forcing penalSties.

PENALTY SHOOTOUT

Liverpool got the proceedings underway with substitute Dietmar Hamann scoring before Reina and Hislop saved efforts from Bobby Zamora and Sami Hyypiä. Teddy Sheringham then stepped up and leveled the shootout at 1-1 after two rounds.

Gerrard made no mistake with his spot kick to make it 2-1, and Reina gave Liverpool the edge with a save off of goalscorer Konchesky's spot kick. John Arne Riise's successful attempt meant West Ham had to score, but Reina again saved off of Anton Ferdinand to claim their seventh FA Cup victory and first since 2001.

HEARTS TAKES OUT SCOTTISH CUP WITH PENALTIES

GLASGOW, 13 May- Minnows Gretna gave Hearts all they wanted and more, holding them to a 1-1 draw at Hampden Park, but the Scottish Premier League side won the 2005/06 Scottish Cup 4-2 on penalties over the Division Two champions.

Hearts' Rudi Skacel had given his side the lead late in the first half, but Paul McGuffie scored after a penalty miss late in the second to equalize for the small-town club, who were twice rescued by the post.

With just eight minutes played, Hearts made a bid for the lead as Deividas Cesnauskis did well to find open space on the edge of the area, but his shot smacked against the right post of Gretna goalkeeper Alan Main. Gretna got their first chance on goal in the 26th minute as a free kick by Gavin Skelton had to be touched behind for a corner kick by Hearts goalkeeper Craig Gordon, and McGuffie narrowly missed high with a looping header 10 minutes later.

In the 39th minute, Hearts finally made the breakthrough as Skacel found himself open at the far post from a deep throw-in and he volleyed past Main and celebrated a 1-0 lead with the Hearts faithful.

Three minutes into the second half, Gretna had a glorious chance to equalize as Steve Tosh took a nice ball in from James Grady, but his finish ended up narrowly wide of Gordon's goal.

Roman Bednar should have done better in the 68th minute when he caught Main off of his line, but the Czech saw his effort go high of the goal. That came back to cost Hearts seven minutes later.

Gretna's John O'Neil was brought down in the area under the challenge of Cesnauksis, and although McGuffie had his effort from the spot saved by Gordon, he was first to the rebound and tucked it home.

Paul Hartley missed a chance on a volley three minutes later and Gordon had to be alert to avert danger six minutes from time as McGuffie was bearing down on him looking for a winning goal.

EXTRA TIME

Six minutes in, Michal Pospisil found his countryman Skacel for a shot on goal, but again Main is left to thank his goalpost as the woodwork denies Hearts the go-ahead goal.

Hartley then missed just wide on a free kick as the first half of extra time came to a close, and Gretna's defense held firm the rest of the way with both teams tired to force extra time.

The shootout would have to be played without Hartley, however, as the Hearts set piece specialist was sent off late on for his second yellow card. PENALTY SHOOTOUT

Steven Pressley, Robbie Neilson and Skacel converted for Hearts and Grady and Mark Birch kept pace for the underdogs before a poorly-taken effort by Derek Townsley was saved by Gordon, leaving the Edinburgh side 3-2 up.

After Pospisil put Hearts up 4-2 with a well-placed shot, Skelton had to score for Gretna, but he sent his shot off the crossbar, leaving the trophy to be lifted by Hearts for the seventh time.

2006 FIFA WORLD CUP

Goal! Weekly takes a look at the grouping for the 2006 World Cup and Soccer Way's Ole Larson offers his predictions on who will survive the initial phase of the world's biggest sporting event.

GROUP A

Germany - The wounded giant

Germany, 32 years after the gaining the World Cup in Munich, a team in disarray, a coach under heavy fire, humilations on and off the field. A host without a chance? Well, think again. This German team is wounded, hurt and downtrotten, but....home field advantage, some world class individualists and a huge portion of fighting spirit...well, a dangerous combination indeed.

However, it can go both ways. If players like Ballack, Podolski and not least Lehmann starts off well, they will be dangerous to anyone carried away on a possible wave of euphoria. On the other hand, the team has obvious flaws, especially defensively, so absolute failure is by no means impossible. The first match against Costa Rica will show the direction. Players to look out for:

Michael Ballack Lukas Podolski Jens Lehmann

Prediction:

Germany is the clear cut group favourite, but a great deal will depend on their first match and whether the team can create the essential spark which means the whole German nation will be behind them. All in all; only a fool would understimate Germany as the World Cup host

1st place – 7 or 9 points

Poland – A repeat of 1974?

Poland has fond memories from the World Cup being staged in Germany, as they quite surprisingly took bronze medals in 1974. It should however be highly unlikely to see the Polish team repeat this performance, as a spot among the final 16 should be the realistic target. This would compensate for the massive dissapointment of the World Cup 2002, where Poland suffered an early exit.

Coach Pawel Janas has created a team going through to Germany without major difficulty even though 2 defeats were suffered against England. This is probably the key to the Polish team: they can play with anybody, but they will eventually meet their limitations when the run into the favourites. And...they should prepare themselves for a real battle for second place in this group.

Players to look out for: Maciei Zurawski Tomasz Frankowski Jacek Krzynowek

Prediction:

Poland will most likely have to fight it out with the Ecuadorians for second spot in this group. A battle which seems very hard to predict, as also the Costa Ricans will intervene and most probably gain some points against the two. The european conditions and a last match against Costa Rica could give Poland the small but needed edge.

2nd place – 4 or 5 points

Ecuador - Home sweet home....

28 points – that was the total of the Ecuadorian team in South American World Cup qualification. 23 of those points were gathered at home soil, where the Ecuadorians could benefit from the high altitude among other things. Now Europe is calling, and conditions are going to be different, the question remains: How good is this team really when playing the world elite and without the all important home advantage? Coach Suarez has build a strong unit with a nice mixture of young and old, e.g. players like Lara and Delgado. What could provide their failure is likely to be their goalscoring ability away from their safe haven in the high altitude, but on the other hand discipline and good defending might just as well be enough to ensure a place among the last 16. However they will surely need to gain at least one point from their encounter with Poland on the opening day of the World Cup.

Players to look out for: Christian Lara Franklin Salas Agustin Delgado

Prediction:

Having failed qualification to the second round when participating in a World Cup tournament for the first time in 2002, the Ecuadorians will try everything possible to set sails for further qualification this time around. Poland will be quite some obstacle on their way, but Ecuador will by no means find this task impossible to overcome. It is going to be very, very close, perhaps a failed qualification on goal differ-

3rd place – 4 or 5 points

Costa Rica - Past glory and present.....?

The Costa Ricans have made thiings difficult for themselves. How? By twice before having delivered absolutely splendid World Cup displays really making a great mark on the World Cup tournaments of 1990 and 2002. They will indeed have something to live up to this time around, and they will probably find it difficult to repeat these acheivements, even though coach Guimaraes ability as a motivator and tactician should not be underestimated.

The Costa Ricans struggled to find their way to Germany until Guimaraes, the coach of 2002, returned to the team in April 2005. From that time the team improved rapidly but further improvement will be necessary, if qualification from this group is to be achieved. However, discipline hand in hand with individual skills could see Costa Rica deliver a surprise or two, but realistically it will be hard to avoid 4th place in the group. Remember though, this was said also in 1990!

Players to look out for: Paulo Wanchope Gilberto Martinez Walter Centeno

Prediction:

Costa Rica plays the World Cup opener against the hosts, and everything but defeat will be a major surprise. My guess is that the Costa Ricans will struggle to score goals, that they will gain a point or two against Ecuador and/or Poland, but that they will leave Germany without a win. Still, a magnificent result to be qualified for the World Cup for the third time in 16 years.

4th place – 1 or 2 points

GROUP B

Sweden - The sole Scandinavian hope Bronze-medal winners 12 years ago in the United States Sweden have high hopes to repeat the triumph from back then. Whether that is possible remains to be seen, one thing is for sure, the Swedes and experienced coach Lars Lagerbäck have the team to create surprises also in the latter stages of the World Cup. Depending on a few essential issues, f.ex. the ego of Zlatan Ibrahimovic, the Swedes should be able to compete with almost everybody displaying a combination of talent, discipline, hard work and exceptional skills. If these elements can go hand in hand, add to that the team's immense experience, and that this will be the final World Cup chance for quite a lot of players like Larsson, Mellberg, Ljungberg etc., the Swedish team can provide a dangerous cocktail!

Players to look out for: Christian Wilhelmsson Zlatan Ibrahimovic Henrik "Henke" Larsson

Prediction:

Sweden with their mixture of a well-oiled collective and players with apparent star quality like Ibrahimovic and Larsson could provide one of the surprises of the World Cup. They should be able to qualify from this group, and they can not be unhappy with the order of play, first game being played against Trinidad and Tobago. Look out for the Swedes! 1st place – 6 or 7 points

England – The immediate group favourite or.... 40 years have passed sine England could celebrate the World Cup triumph of London 1966. Then as now England must be considered one of the favourites to win the title, although the self-esteem and high hopes of the British press and public do not necessarily match their actual chance of winning the Cup. The likes of Lampard, Gerrard and Terry should see to that England will qualify to the next round without problems, but it is also very likely that outside elements will cause a stir-up early on in the tournament. be it the manager question or dissatisfied high-profiled players. The burning question: Will Sven-Göran Ericsson be able to create a balanced team in his last tournament with England? If yes, look out Brazil, Italy, France, Argentina, if not, goodbye England, no later than the quarterfinals.

With Wayne Rooney injured and almost certain to miss out on any action England has made some uncharacteristic selections with youngster Theo Walcott getting the nodd.

Players to look out for: Frank Lampard John Terry

Prediction:

England will as always be a serious contender, although it is very hard to see the British lion go all the way. They will find themselves in a battle against the clever Swedes in this group, but it is likely they will be very close to already having qualified to the next round when the play Sweden in the final match of the group.

2nd place – 5 or 6 points

Paraguay - the overlooked South Americans

As a small country among giants Paraguay is most likely to yet again be underestimated by the entire football community when the show goes off in Germany. But the last appearances of Paraguay in the World Cup finals have shown that you should never ever understimate this cunning team which when it comes to technique, tactics and cleverness are by no means inferior to their group opponents

As proven by finishing runners-up in the 2004 Olympic Football Tournament in Athens, the country develops world class players who could go straight into any team. Santa Cruz and Valdez up front, and the rock Gamarra defensively will make this Paraguayan team a challenge for everybody, incl. Sweden and England.

Players to look out for: Roque Santa Cruz

Nelson Valdez Carlos Gamarra

Prediction:

Paraguay will be the natural outsider of this group with quite a task qualifying to the next round. However by no means an impossible one. One should not forget that the "albirroya" on the last two World Cup occasions did qualify for the play-off stages. And one should also not forget that Paraguay gained 4 out of 6 possible points in the qualification against Argentina. All in all, Paraguay could deliver a surprise in this group, although a place in 3rd spot is the most likely scenario.

3rd place – 4 or 5 points

Trinidad and Tobago – The Caribbean contender

1.1 million people live in this small island state in the Caribbean which are making their first appearance in the World Cup Finals. After going through the qualification beating the likes of St. Kitts and Nevis, St. Vincent and the Grenadines and finally Bahrain in a very close play-off encounter, the "Soca Warriors" are in for a different treat playing England, Sweden and Paraguay.

The World Cup debutants can show some experience in and off the field personified f.ex. by Dutch coach Leo Beenhakker and players like the brain in the midfield 38-year old Russell Latapy (player/coach from Scottish side Falkirk) or the former Manchester United star Dwight Yorke. Nevertheless there are too many weak spots in a team which will find it difficult to match their opponents physically, mentally and qualitywise, although enthusiasm and pride will carry them a bit of the way. Players to look out for:

Stern John Dwight Yorke

Prediction

Russell Latapy

It is hard avoid predicting that Trinidad and Tobago will find their trip to Germany adventurous but also immensely challenging. They will deliver great battles, but they will also lose, although it will not be impossible perhaps to gain the odd point from opponents, which are likely to underestimate the T &

2006 FIFA WORLD CUP

GROUP C

Argentina – The revenge?

The Argentineans should be out to revenge the early exit 4 years ago in Korea/Japan. Having qualified without any major hiccups, and under the guidance of former youth team coach Pekerman the team stands out as one of the possible champions. However the early deroute 4 years ago combined with an extremely difficult draw should turn on the potential warning signals, meaning Argentina has to do be alert from the very beginning of the tournament.

The mixture of young and old in this team is quite intriguing. Ayala, Crespo, Aimar together with the youth and incredible talent of Messi, who could be the revelation of the tournament. On it's day Argentina can beat even Brazil (as shown in the South American qualification), but on the other hand, this group is so strong that you should not completely rule out a repetition of 2002.

Players to look out for: Juan Pablo Sorin

Lionel Messi

Juan Roman Riquelme

Prediction:

I would see Argentina as a slim group favourite, but not by much compared to the Dutch and the Serbs. It would however be a surprise if the World Champions from 1986 would leave the tournament as early as in 2002. If they can go all the way remains to be seen, personally I wouldn't rule that out, but at least 1st or 2nd spot in this group should be obtained, if the crying for Argentina is to be avoided.

1st place – 5 or 6 points

Netherlands – This time for real?

A rejuvenated Dutch team and coach van Basten will be trying to live up to the usual high expectations, which have followed Dutch teams in the big tournaments so many times since the magic of the 1970's. Convincing in the qualification and this time around perhaps with a better "team" than many times before, the Dutch should be in with a fair chance to make an impact on the proceedings in Germany. World class keeper van der Sar, talented van der Vaart, cunning van Nistelrooy and a lot of other class acts form this team, which should be considered tournament outsiders if, and it is really an if, they overcome the obstacles of Group C. One slip in this group (not unlikely f.ex. in the first match against S & M) and the Dutch could be gone early on in the tournament. I would, however, make a small prediction and say that the Dutch team of 2006 is better suited for World Cup succes than it's predecessors. Players to look out for:

Rafael van der Vaart Edwin van der Sar Wesley Sneijder

Prediction:

1st, 2nd, 3rd or 4th? Even if the latter should not be that probable everything is possible in this group. It should be likely though that the Dutch find a way to go through but it is going to be close, and a decider in the final match against Argentina is not exactly a dream scenario. Perhaps 4 points gained from the first 2 matches and then a draw against the Argentinians? 2nd place – 5 or 6 points

Serbia and Montenegro – A potential "surprise"?

Despite facing some serious competition in the qualifiers Serbia & Montenegro did a very solid job going through to Germany. And the possibility of a few setups by this team is absolutely realistic, and one shouldn't be all that surprised if the team actually gains access to the round of 16. Even if that would mean that they have to overcome one of the group giants, the Netherlands or Argentina.

This solid group of players presenting themselves with tactical cleverness and technical skills, relying on a very good defence with only one goal against in the qualification, will not be easy to beat. Whether it will prove enough should by and large depend on their first and crucial clash against the Dutch. At least a draw here and the possibilities will be wide open for the S & M team.

Players to look out for:

Mladen Krstajic Dejan Stankovic

Mateja Kezman

Prediction:

The most likely scenario is that Serbia & Montenegro will miss out on qualification, but if so probably with a very slim margin. They have the abilities, they have the defence – which is immensely important in a tournament like this – and if discipline and morale can be kept high, I personally wouldn't be surprised if the S & M boys causes a surprise.

3rd place – 3 or 4 points

Côte d'Ivoire – Newcomers facing the world elite A huge task is going to face the World Cup newcomers Côte d'Ivoire in Germany this summer. But it was also a huge task facing this team when the qualification started going against African powers like Cameroon and Egypt. But the task was handled in a way few thought possible and qualification was secured when Cameroun surprisingly was held to a draw in the last match against Egypt.

Talent is a massive presence on this team guided by experienced French coach Henri Michel, the likes of Drogba, Kalou, Tizie and Dindane will without any doubt cause an upset or two in this tournament. Whether that will be enough, I doubt it, as the group draw has provided "The Elephants" with the hardest task possible. But as they face Argentina in the first match – Argentina, previously the victim of an African upset in the first match – a surprise here could lead the way for great things for the underdogs.

Players to look out for: Didier Drogba Bonaventure Kalou

Jean Jacques Tizie

Prediction:

Côte d'Ivoire can not be blamed if they find their presence in Group C a bit overwhelming. As a newcomer to the World Cup they are thrown into deep waters from game 1. But even if 4th spot in the group is very likely, everyone should enjoy this magnificent team, which – in opposition to last seeded teams in other groups – most definitely stand a chance to cause havoc in the presumed group standings.

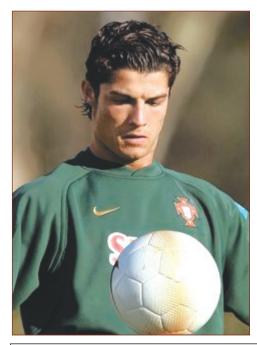

4th place – 2 or 3 points

GROUP D

Mexico – High hopes yet again...

Mexico, one of those teams, which have the ability to go a long way in this tournament, but also a team which could provide one of the negative setups early on. The team, coached by Ricardo la Volpe, has developed into a force to be taken serious which was proven last summer at The FIFA Confederations Cup. At that occasion Brazil was beaten, and Argentina needed a penalty shootout to defeat the Mexicans. The team will be very hard to beat due to excellent organization and defensive skills, but it remains to be seen if the creative part of the team is going to work out equally successful. This is going to depend a lot on players like Marquez and Borgetti. The question is whether the Mexicans has got what it takes to go beyond the round of the last 16, which by the way has to be a minimum target. In my view the Mexican team is one of the most difficult to assess in this tournament. Great success, terrible failure, most likely they will end up in between.

Players to look out for: Carlos Salcido

Jared Borgetti Rafael Marquez

Prediction:

Mexico could very well win this group, even if Portugal should be a more serious World Cup contender. The schedule of play could be advantageous for the Mexicans, and they should qualify form the group. However, the World Cup always has its own set of surprises, and complety rule out that Mexico could be one of the victims early on would not be wise. But all in all, qualification, perhaps as group winners, and then goodbye in the round of 16?

1st place – 6 or 7 points

Portugal – A secret favourite?

High hopes followed the Portuguese on their way to the World Cup 2002, hopes which were left bitterly unfulfilled. This time around Luiz Felipe Scolari has to bear the burden of very high expectations yet again after completing a qualification as group winners 7 points clear of Slovakia and as the most scoring team in Europe. Including a 7-1 rout against Russia in Lisboa

A highly skilled team with individual capability par excellence, solid defenders and an old fox like Scolari as coach should provide a danger for any opponent, also in the later stages of the tournament. This will depend on two key factors: The goalscoring ability, which despite the 35 goals in the qualification, has not always been adequate, and the mental sturdyness of the team when misfortune envitably sets in. If these issues are overcome, everything is possible for the Portuguese.

Players to look out for: Deco (Anderson Luís de Souza) Ricardo Carvalho Cristian Ronaldo

Prediction:

Portugal should by all means be able to qualify from this group, not least after the woeful 2002 World Cup campaign. Whether it is going to happen from first or second spot in the group should not be all that decisive, but qualification is a must. A great danger could be the difficult opening match against highly motivated Angolans and the uproar if this match doesn't go well. Nevertheless qualification could, or perhaps should, be ensured before the final match against the Mexicans.

2nd place – 6 or 7 points

Iran – The Asian unknown

Three times champions of Asia and the home of 62 million people, Iran has surely put their mark on the world football scene. But even if the last couple of years have seen a steady development and a rejuvenated Iranian team with some star quality, Iran can still not be expected to transfer their Asian leading part to Germany this summer. However, the World Cup often provides a scene for new "actors", and the Iranians could, if everything is going their way, slip into this role.

Although a footballing power in the Asia region, Iran will nevertheless first and foremost play the role of the outsider in this tournament, but not entirely without hope of making an impact. With capable Germany based players like Hashemian, Mahdavikia and Karimi, together with the tactical skills of coach Branko Ivankovic (4th year in charge, not often seen in this region), this team should not be an easy obstacle to overcome.

Players to look out for:

Vahid Hashemian Ali Karimi

Mehdi Mahdavikia

Iran will have a hard time qualifying for the next round. Expected losses against Portugal and Mexico would see their chances ruined, so it is going to be crucial for them to gain at least one point from those two matches. If this is achieved then the setup is ready for a vital clash against Angola in the last match, which could leave a minor chance for a possible surprise. However, most likely the Iranians will yet again fail to enter the round of the last 16. 3rd place -2 or 3 points

Angola – The African debutant

Angolas presence at the World Cup is a major succes and acheivement for players and coach Oliveira Goncalves lending the Angolan people (life expectancy: 37 years) a small light in a dismal everyday life. All this created on the basis of consistent work of coach Goncalves, who have worked with a lot of the players for years, dating back to the African U-20 title in the beginning of the century.

This Angolan team, knocking out African giants Nigeria on their way to Germany, is all about high spirit, the will to fight and a unity not always seen in African teams. Angola, however, is not without excellent individual players like f.ex. their main motivator on the field and captain of the team, former Benfica player, Akwa. Their lack of previous World Cup experience is compensated with an iron will to represent their country in the best way possible. And...having been drawn in the same group as Portugal, after being a colony of Portugal until independence was declared in 1975, has a huge emotional impact on the Angolans, and the first game against Portugal will potentially decide more than normal in terms of the tournament. The Angolans are going to be a tough and an unpleasant opponent.

Players to look out for: Maurito (Norberto Melenas)

Akwa (Fabrice Alcebiades)

Zé Kalanga (Nsimba Paulo Baptista Kalanga) Prediction:

Angola plays Portugal in the first match which are promising to be an highly emotional event on especially the Angolan side. A loss here could see the balloon burst, as this match is essentially their highlight of the tournament. On the other hand fight and team spirit combined with a result against Portugal could make this side somewhat unpredictable, as early success could raise their game. All in all, most likely 3rd or 4th spot without getting too close to one of the first two spots. 4th place – 2 or 3 points
